

ABSTRACT

- 5 A process and plant for laying a pipe in a trench comprising placing a flattened tubular preform in the trench, the preform having a reinforcement surrounding an inner seal, the reinforcement being impregnated with a resin, and inflating the preform in the trench.